

GOTHENBURG FREEMASONS

MUSIC AND SONG SCHOLARSHIPS

2022

Applications can be made for up to ten scholarships to a total value of approx. 200.000 SEK

The last date of application is the 15th of March, 2022.

The Freemasons of Gothenburg hereby announce a number of around 5-10 scholarships. The final number of recipients is to be decided by the scholarship committee.

One of the scholarships can be made for a larger amount should the scholarship committee find it appropriate. The scholarship is in the first instance a grant for longer periods of continuous study abroad (or continuous international study).

Gothenburg Freemasons MUSIC AND SONG SCHOLARSHIPS - 2022

The music scholarships are intended for young music students who in the first instance have a connection with Gothenburg. This means that the applicant should have been born or raised in Gothenburg. Other youth who are or have been registered for full-time study at Gothenburg University's Music, Theatre or Opera Academies are also qualified to apply for the scholarships. Applicants, who are over 30 years of age, can only be considered as an exception or when consideration has been taken to previous especially time-consuming circumstances.

The scholarships should be used for qualified education within the western sphere of art music with a specialization in song, instrument, sacred music, composition or conducting. Scholarships will not be granted for instruments, tours, recordings or similar purposes.

Eligible for scholarships are students who are, or have been, registered at Master's level in Göteborg University's Academy of Music and Drama, or are studying in the final year of a Bachelor's programme.

Scholarships will normally only be awarded to a single individual, but application can also be made by a group who together are qualified and who together are planning mutual study in ensembles, song or studies of similar character.

The number of scholarships awarded depends on the number of qualified applications. Usually, approximately 200.000 SEK is divided between around 5-10 scholars. The scholarships will be officially presented at the beginning of September, but the scholarship amount will be awarded in May. One of the scholarships can be for a greater sum, should the Scholarship Committee find it appropriate. This scholarship is in the first instance a grant for longer periods of continuous study abroad.

A short written account of how the scholarship has been used must be submitted by the awardees' not later than one year after the scholarship has been awarded. The scholar should be prepared to participate without any special remuneration at a church service, concert or other event that is organized within the Society of Freemasons in Gothenburg.
